

ABOUT THE STATE

HAPPENINGS OF INTEREST FROM DIFFERENT SECTIONS

In S. K. Butterfield's strawberry patch in Swanton a few days ago, he found one berry which measured six and one-half inches around.

The funeral of John Q. Adams, held last Tuesday in Vergennes, encountered many difficulties. The procession waited two hours for the rain to subside and then came to a place where, after the horse and part of the teams had passed, the earth caved in, and the rest of the procession had to turn back. Large stones, weighing at least two tons each, came down the path of the flood, and in less than half an hour there was a gully 30 feet deep and 25 feet wide. It will cost $1,000 to replace the fill and sluiceway.

Deputy Sheriff George F. Rial of Poultney is in the hotel at Fort Ann, N. Y., with a fractured shoulder and three broken ribs, caused by a collision between a cow and an automobile which he was driving. The other occupants of the car were uninjured. The cow stepped directly in front of the car, and when it struck her was overturned. Mr. and Mrs. Frank Baldwin of New York, two of the summer visitors in Poultney, and the party were on their way to Hudson Falls, N. Y., when the accident occurred.

Recovers from Wound and Weds.

Albert Greene Vernott, a machinist who formerly was in the employ of the White River Chair company at Brattleboro and was seriously wounded in a fight early on April 25 with Nick Spingale and F. Geugonius, who were later freed from custody after a jury had failed to convict Geugonius of assault with intent to kill, and Miss Gladys Emma Hosmer of Brattleboro, were married Friday afternoon at 1 o'clock at the Universalist parsonage. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Delmar E. Trout. Mr. and Mrs. Vernott went yesterday afternoon to Boston. They will go to Dover, N. H., the home of both bridegroom and bride, where they will live.

VERMONT SUNDAY.

Many Cities and Towns Show Interest in the Observance.

Much interest is being shown in the plans for Vermont Sunday to-morrow. Ministers in 68 different cities and towns in Vermont have requested and received from the Greater Vermont association copies of the order of service published by the association for use by congregations on July 2. In some places several churches will use the orders of service. Many ministers who do not plan to use the order of service write that they expect to give discourses as suggested "relating to the history of Vermont, or some phase of the problem of creating public spirit and securing civic and military service."

The list of places in which congregations will use the order of service is as follows: Albany, Barnard, Barre, Bellows Falls, Bennington, Bethel, Bradford, Brattleboro, Bristol, Cabot, Cambridge, Castleton, Cavendish, Chester, Cornwall, Craftsbury, Danville, Eagle Pass, Tex., East Burke, East Dover, East Hardwick, Enosburg Falls, Essex, Essex Junction, Fair Haven, Hartford, Hartland, Huntington, Jericho, Johnson, Lyndon Center, Lyndonville, McIntire Falls, Marlboro, Middleton, Falls, Milton, Montpelier, Morrisville, New Haven, Newport, Northfield, North Hero, North Springfield, Old Bennington, Pittsford, Pownall, Randolph, Randolph Center, Richmond, Rochester, Rupert, St. Albans, St. Johnsbury, South Londonderry, Stowe, Swanton, Vergennes, Waterbury, Waterville, West Burke, West Charleston, West Hartford, Westminster West, West Rutland, Williston, Winoski, Woodstock.

MARSHFIELD

Visit of the Barre Board of Trade Developed a Kindly Spirit.

That the people of this section are not lacking in the get-together spirit was proven beyond question Thursday evening when one of the largest and most congenial crowds ever seen in Marshfield assembled in response to the call to come out and get better acquainted. The business enterprise and push of the Barre Board of Trade was strikingly exemplified by the efficient manner in which the affair was worked up and the hearty response which it met on all sides. Fully forty automobiles were required to bring the members and their ladies, 200 strong, and it was a pleasing sight as they drove up Main street. They were met at once to the K. of P. hall, where they were greeted by a few well chosen words of welcome from the president of the board of village trustees, H. D. McNeill.

A royal banquet had been prepared by the ladies of the Village Improvement society to which about 400 guests did ample justice, while the Barre orchestra rendered some very pleasing selections. A short post prandial program was carried out. J. Ward Carver of Barre, and a former resident of this town, gave a brief address in behalf of the Board of Trade which was very happily responded to by Mrs. C. H. Chapin as representative of the Village Improvement society. A rising vote of thanks on the part of the visitors was tendered the ladies.

A large crowd had already gathered when the company adjourned to the common where 150 lantern slides, representing the granite industry and some other notable features of Barre, were shown. The pictures were not only interesting and entertaining but educational as well, bringing home the fact that Vermont may well be proud of Barre industry enterprises. Few cities of its size can make as fine a showing of its school buildings, churches and other public buildings, while in many respects the granite industry leads the world. Let Vermonters get wise to these facts and honor where honor is due.

The Barre band added much to the pleasure of the evening by giving a splendid open air concert while the pictures were being exhibited. The company broke up with the universal feeling that the whole affair had been a grand success in every way, even the weather, which was threatening during the afternoon, decided to look pleasant, and drew back the clouds allowing the stars to shine forth all their glory. We trust that the bond of brotherhood and good fellowship so pleasantly inaugurated on this occasion may be renewed from time to time by other visits of similar import.
